Holiday Planner.....	17

Holiday Planner

The holiday planner is a grid with 6 columns representing weeks (Week 1 to Week 6) and 7 rows representing days of the week (Monday to Sunday). The days are labeled on the left side of the grid. The text 'Summer Holiday Planner' is written vertically on the left side. There are decorative icons: a sun for Friday, flip-flops for Sunday, and four colorful houses (red, yellow, green, blue) for Monday. The Twinkl logo and 'visit twinkl.com' are in the top left corner.

Monday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Tuesday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Wednesday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Thursday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Friday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Saturday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6
Sunday	Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5	Week 6

Top Tips

The nice and nice

Your child is reluctant to start a task. 'Are you going to tidy up your toys now or after dinner?' 'Are you going to do your homework with a pencil or a pen?'

The nice and nasty

Using a matter-of-fact calm voice... 'Either it's finished/tidied now, or after dinner.' 'Your toys need to go away now or during TV time.'

Thanks not please

Really important this one! Say please too often and you may sound like you are pleading. Instead, try 'name...instruction...thanks'

Never say 'no'

Sometimes we have to say 'no', but for other times try the phrase 'when...then'. 'Can I have the TV on?' 'Yes, when you have done... then...'

Notice and praise

Be constantly on the lookout for the good, rather than the bad. Name and praise behaviour. 'I've noticed how nicely you are sharing.' 'It's really lovely to see you being nice to...'

13. Visit the library

Use your local library regularly. In most libraries you can get more than books; you can get movies and music. Make a day out of it. Do some reading while you're there instead of getting some books and heading home. Give your children a love of books — it is one of the best gifts you can give them.

14. Organise some play dates

Plan some play dates and invite friends over. While they spend time with their friends it may give you the opportunity to get some work done and perhaps even connect with other parents. Plus...the invite may be returned someday.

15. Have a “chill day”

With all that activity planned, kids will also need some down time. Make sure you plan some days where you just chill, watch some movies, read some books, and take it easy.

10. Get into jewellery making

Go to a bead shop and stock up on beads, wire and clasps, and get busy making your own jewellery. This activity can be done with the smallest of children, just be sure to get appropriate bead sizes for different age groups. The children will be so proud to wear the jewellery that they have made.

11. Go swimming

If you are lucky enough to live close to the sea, go swimming when possible. The sea has a calming effect on children and the amount of energy used in the water means that they won't be quite as active when they get home. If you don't live close to the sea, go to a swimming pool instead.

12. Take nature walks

Go on nature walks with a purpose. On the beach, collect shells and stones to later make a shell castle or shell and stone sculptures. In the forest, get kids to seek out different sorts of bugs, plants or trees. Alternatively, give them a map to plot the route you are taking. By giving them control and a plan, this will ensure they don't get bored too quickly.

7. Get jamming

Grab some musical instruments — things like bongos, shakers or tambourines, and get jamming. Get your kids to sing and dance along. (Alternatively, you can stick on some Deep Purple, let your hair down, and dance on the furniture.)

8. Make a movie

Kids love to make movies using a tablet and some figurines. They can create the movie themselves using Windows MovieMaker, iMovie or Stop Motion and edit it afterwards.

9. Paint

One of the nicest ways to express your creativity is to use paint. Get large sheets of paper and lots of paint. Go mad and use your hands and feet — it's liberating. To avoid any stress, prepare the area well and cover with plastic or newspaper. Have some water on hand to wash when you are finished.

4. Build a garden patch

Dedicate a small patch in the garden to the kids. Plant flowers, herbs, lettuce — anything that grows quickly and gives them the satisfaction of having produced something. If your kids are small, just give them a spade, put on their old clothes, and let them loose.

5. Go on picnics

You don't have to go far to have a picnic — my children regularly ask for a picnic out the garden. I give them whatever I have in the fridge. You'd be amazed how once it is packed in a plastic container and eaten on a blanket on the grass, how much the atmosphere romanticizes the most boring of sandwiches.

6. Have a treasure hunt

Make a treasure map with clues to find some treasure you have hidden somewhere in the garden. It doesn't have to be expensive or big — any little treat will be exciting when it is found outdoors.

1. Make your own games

Get a supply of coloured cards, children's scissors, glue and anything else you may want to make some fun games. Games like Hoopla, Pin the Tail on the Donkey or Snakes and Ladders can all be easily made at home and will keep the children occupied for some time.

2. Cooking and baking

Once a week plan a cooking or baking day. Involve the kids in the process from the beginning — let them choose from a selection of recipes that you have ingredients for. If the child can read, get them to read from the recipe book. Step by step, help them to work through the instructions. Try to avoid the temptation of doing it yourself.

3. Make an assault course

Assemble an assault course in the back garden. Old pieces of wood, boxes, buckets, garden chairs — anything that can be jumped over, under or around. Tell the children to time each other around the assault course. The course can be completed on a bicycle, scooter, skateboard, or simply by running.

15 Awesome Ideas for Keeping Kids Busy

By Ciara Conlon www.lifehack.org

Need some ideas for keeping the kids busy over the summer break?

Holidays can be a great time to bond with your children and maybe even let your own inner child come out to play. But it can also be a stressful time when kids can misbehave because of boredom. It's best to put a little bit of advanced planning into the summer holidays and prepare yourself with an arsenal of activities to keep the little ones out of mischief.

Start by planning each week in advance!

If the kids know they have things to look forward to it will make for happier more relaxed children.

Also be sure to get the children involved in the planning. They will be less likely to complain about the activities chosen if they have taken part in the decision-making. Have a range of activities to select from: stuff to do at home, in the garden, outdoors, and the odd activity that cost money to do.
