

QI PTA Half-Term Break Around the World Challenge!

The PTA challenge you to get outside over the half-term break and count how many miles you walk while you are out with your family.

The PTA will add together the miles everyone walks to see where in the world we could reach!

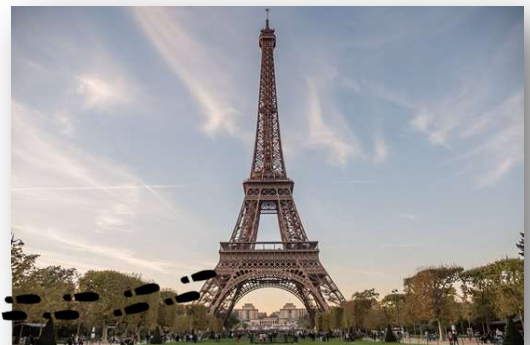

If you want to join in the challenge:

1. Count up every mile you walk when you are out over the half-term break.
2. Let your teacher know your total number of miles on Monday 22nd February using the Year Group email if you are learning at home or on a piece of paper if you are in school.

The PTA will let us know how many miles QI families walked altogether and which destination we would get to.

Can we get enough miles to reach the Eiffel Tower in Paris, France?

Mr Murray from Planet Education would love you to take part in this challenge too.

Planet Education have also challenged all the schools they support to count their miles. They are going to see if all the schools' miles added together can reach Tokyo in Japan where the Olympic Games are being held later this year. 😊
